Once there dwelt within the mountains

A philosopher named Haffinch.

Filled he was with many wise tales,

But there was no one to listen.

So he climbed the highest mountain;
Calling to the hills around him,
Bidding all to come and hear him,
And to profit from his teachings.

As the multitudes did gather

On the hillside to hear Haffinch,

Pouring forth his tales of wisdom,

He became known the world over.

But the winds blew through the canyon,
And 'twas cold upon the mountain;
So Wise Haffinch did seek shelter
For the followers of his teachings.

Haffinch gazed down from the mountain,
And he saw a field of clover.

Then he said, "I'll build a castle

To which all may come to hear me."

hus the castle was constructed,

And a registrar employed there

To collect the fees for Haffinch,

And to make a list of students.

Haffinch called his castle Main Hall,

And the multitudes enrolled there

To take Listening to Haffinch,

And his fame spread far and yonder.

But it happened that as time passed,
He became so tired of talking,
He contracted laringitis
And was puzzled with the problem.

Then spake one of his bright students,

Who suggested to Wise Haffinch,

"Why not write down your wise teachings,

So that all who wished might read them?"

Many books were then compiled

And a library was constructed;

Where were housed Haffinch's writings,

And where students went to study.

After pouring o'er their studies,
Students needed relaxation.
Hence an edifice for union
Of the students was erected.

In one portion called the Coke Store

Many students then did gather;

Where they did much coffee drinking,

While they mulled o'er daily gossip.

Here the students also studied

And engaged in recreation,

While some week-ends found them dancing
In the Gold Room or the Fish Bowl.

When the spring thaws hit the campus,
Out-of-doors the students gathered,
Where they sat midst bright umbrellas
And absorbed their share of sunshine.

Some of them exchanged their coffee

For a cooler type of beverage,

And their visits were more frequent

Due to sieges of class cutting.

Spring would also find the campus

Turning thoughts to things athletic.

Picnics, hikes, and frat spring parties

Offered them fresh-air diversion.

Neighbor to the Student Union

Was the campus bowl of clover,

Where the groups would often gather

To engage in intramurals.

Voise parades and bonfire rallies

Were among the pep attractions

For the students with school spirit,

Who excelled in much loud cheering.

On the steps in front of Main Hall,
Where they entered in group singing—
Singing on the Steps he called it.

So that justice might be furthered

Haffinch built a tabernacle,

Where the lowyers studied canned briefs,

While their friends attended convos.

After years of preparation,

To the bar they were admitted.

This was based on the provision

They produced the proper 1.D.

Jet another school was founded
For the subjects of Paul Bunyan,
And though Haffinch was the founder,
Patron saint was their own Bertha.

Ev'ry year a ball was given

By these lawyer-hating woodsmen.

With informal dress the keynote,

Cancan girls and beards were featured.

So the years passed quickly onward
While the school was ever growing.
More new buildings were constructed
To accommodate expansion.

Still the students sought their learning—
Old ones left, and new ones entered.
But they all remembered Haffinch
For his wise and wondrous teachings.

They would think back on their school days,

And each year they would relive them

At their festival—Homecoming.

Listening to Haffinch Spreading Haffinch's Word Joining Haffinch Haffinch's Regime Cheering with Haffinch Haffinch's Habitations Relaxing with Haffinch Haffinch's Backers

Many students came to Haffinch
Seeking higher education.
After years of constant study
They rejoiced in graduating.

Country Girl

First production of the Masquers
Was Odets' stark, vivid drama
Of Frank Elgin, has-been actor,
Who through drink had reached his downfall.

Bernie Dodd, the brash director,
With Frank's wife, the loyal Georgie,
Struggle for the stage-star's comeback
And restore him to the footlights.

Bernie comes to Frank's apartment,
Offers him a chance for comeback;
But the actor remains helpless,
Fearing those who try to help him.

Frank again resorts to drinking. Georgie then attempts to help him; But he turns on her in anger, Not realizing her influence.

The stage manager, the author, And Phil Cook, the play's producer, Find that Frank has been imbibing During the play's dress rehearsal.

The Imaginary Invalid

Moliere's satire on physicians
Was the winter quarter presentation.
It concerns a doting father
Who surrounds himself with doctors.

Argan's maid, Toinette, who's saucy, Constantly torments her master. It is she who plots against him And resolves the situation.

Elmire, Argan's sister, tells him
To himself become a doctor
So that he can cure his ailments.
This he does and solves the problem.

Haffinch chose—to spread his story—A tall lad known as "The Deacon,"
Driver of a Continental,
Who insisted on perfection.

To assist he picked another

Who was known by friends as "Koobie."

Know Montana . . .

Origin of Some Montana Names

Helena - According to the Helena Historical directory of 1879 the city of Helena was named by John Somerville for his former home of St. Helena. Minn. It was voted by the early citizens to drop the prefix. Saint.

Wibaux.—The town was named for Pierre Wibaux, son of a wealthy Parisian silk manufacturer who settled in this area in the 80's. In his heyday Pierre was the largest cattle operator in the world, owning as many as 65,000 head.

Bannack This pioneer community was named after the Bannack Indian tribe and became Montana's first city, a boom camp roaring with a population of thousands.

Missoula The Garden City was named for the broad river that flows through the center of town. The river was named by the Indians, "Missoula" meaning sparkling water.

Three Forks—This town, steeped in historic lore and legend, gets its name from the convergence of the "three forks," the Gallatin, Madison and Jefferson rivers.

Wolf Point How it was named—great numbers of wolf pelts were stacked along the Missouri banks awaiting shipment on early-day steamboats to the St. Louis market.

Fort Benton - The name honors an early-day champion of fur interests, Sen. Thomas Benton of Missouri, and was so named in 1846 by the American Fur Company.
